Camden collection

A mix of transitional style with mid 20th century European influences form the foundation of this collection. These pieces draw on iconic designs of the period, combining wood, brass and glass to create crisp angular forms. Collectively or individually these pieces will add a new dimension to any room setting.

Architects House collection

Light oak, soft leather and brass details are the main materials of this collection. Inspired by Italian designer Ico Parisi and his late 1950's designs, the Architects House collection has become one of Jonathan Sowter's favorite transitional collections.

ARCHITECTURAL ROUND END TABLE

NEW Ambiente collection

This fresh and innovative collection takes its influence from the Bauhaus School of Art, a leading exponent of the modernist movement in Europe during the 1920s and 30s. The Bauhaus had a profound influence worldwide on developments in art and architecture as well as the interior and industrial design of the period. The nesting tables for example, are reminiscent of Frank Lloyd Wright architecture; in particular his famously flowing "Fallingwater" house, designed and built at the very end of this period. Functionality blends seamlessly with simplicity in this collection's stainless steel and brass form, clean lines, engineered veneers and highly polished finishes.

ITALIAN LAYER NESTING TABLES

NEW

Intricate mosaic work in cracked eggshell, delicately shaded through the application of heat combined with richly coloured metal foils washed in multiple layers of hardened lacquer.

JONATHAN CHARLES has taken these most traditional of art forms, handed down through generations of craftspeople, fusing them with modern techniques to forge a collection of limitless possibilities; colourful and very chic.

NEW Octavia collection

The octagon is widely featured in historic architecture. Examples can be seen in the Oktogon in Budapest, St. George's Cathedral in Addis Ababa and the Basilica of San Vitale in Ravenna. The Octavia collection accentuates this geometric theme in a fusion of metal, dark woods, veneer and lacquer. A contemporary approach to the traditional influence of architecture in furniture design. Clean lines with a highly polished finish punctuated by lost wax cast brass ornamentation exhibit the fine skills of the JONATHAN CHARLES craftsmen and women.

Belgravia collection

Sophistication and elegance, the Belgravia collection exudes both. Polished to a high lustre, the richly figured veneers, complimented by polished nickel hardware and silver gilt carving, provide a modern and sophisticated look. Incorporating clean lines and classic shapes, our designers have included a touch of more traditional French inspired pieces, ensuring the Belgravia has something to suit any taste or interior.

NEW

MONTE CARLO collection

Monte Carlo established its reputation as the playground of the rich and famous in the 19th Century. The Monte Carlo collection takes its inspiration from these early days of lavish homes, luxury hotels and chic casinos frequented by Europe's Royal families, elite industrialists, divas and debutantes. Monte Carlo exudes elegance and sophistication, reflecting the luxurious classical lifestyle of 19th century Europe. Intricate carving with gilt detailing and exotic crotch veneers in a rich dark walnut finish, show the true craftsmanship of JONATHAN CHARLES.

ICARUS collection

Exquisitely hand carved pieces interwoven with a rich tapestry of intricate inlays, gilt finishes and jewelry fittings. Its central theme of wings and delicate feathers draws its inspiration from Greek mythology. Icarus, the son of the Daedalus, a remarkable Athenian master craftsman, used a pair of beautifully handcrafted wings that his father had made to escape from the island of Crete. Like Greek mythology the Icarus collection captivates its audience, enchanted and spellbound, with beautiful and delicate design.

VERSAILLES collection

JONATHAN CHARLES takes opulence a step further with the Versailles Collection, which embraces the drama and embodies the regality of 18th century, Louis XV-era Versailles. Drawing inspiration from various influential tastemakers at court, each design in the Versailles collection demands attention and exudes extravagance...

"WILLIAM YEOWARD ...collected is exactly that! A collection of furniture both loved and admired over some thirty years of furniture making and decorating." His unique perspective as a decorator and self-proclaimed "collector of beautiful things" informs the vision behind this collection for JONATHAN CHARLES. "It's simple", says Yeoward. "I just design what I see as objects of desire, and JONATHAN CHARLES' signature artisanal craftsmanship techniques highlight the beauty of the products, adding bespoke charm that is unprecedented by other manufacturers."

The Clancarty stool is the perfect example of a piece of furniture that sits so well at the end of a twin bed. However, I intend to use them as four in an octagonal entry hall with the Salozza table at the centre.

Why not add an amusing table to a traditional interior? I do! Although the Gennesso is ideal for a hot New York loft or an urban chic dwelling in Shoreditch, London it also passes very successfully as a contemporary piece of mid-century design. Proportionally ideal to put between a pair of armchairs as small cocktail table; why not top it off with a vodka martini!

THE MARQUETTE CONSOLE TABLE

530138-GFA OCT 15

This 19th century fruitwood table was owned by my cousin. She used it to serve the most delicious lunches from, in her dining room in the county of Wiltshire. Named Marquette as the room had a rather French feel, "it was a bit like tripping over Paris in the country" and I still have great feelings of joy when I look at this interpretation of a favourite piece. Marble topped for practicality makes Marquette ideal for everyday purposes.

MIDMOOR CHEST OF DRAWERS

The Midmoor chest of drawers is probably one of my most prized possessions. I love the quirky detail of the paint and the amusing way that the borders of the drawers make for an all over design. Years ago I had this piece in my bedroom but now I find it a deeply practical place to store my silver and linens.
